World Schools Debate

Please refer to the information packet downloadable at <https://www.jic.ac.id/resources-tournament> for detailed information and guide about World Schools Debate.

The Main Round Debate Motion is:

"This house would mandate the use of Bahasa Indonesia as a medium of instruction in all schools and universities in Indonesia."

Each team will be assigned either "Proposition" or "Opposition" an hour before the debate begins. The "Proposition" supports the "Motion", and the "Opposition" opposes the "Motion". So, teams are required to prepare both the "Proposition" and "Opposition" sides of the debate, and will not be told until one hour prior to the debate which side of the debate they are assigned.

Semi-Final and Final rounds will use completely impromptu debate motions that will be given an hour before the debate begins.

World Schools Debate Judging:

In World Schools Debate (WSD), the winning team is the team with the most points. The score for each speech is based on a combination of style, content, and strategy.

Style is 40% of the total score. Speakers should communicate clearly using effective rate, pitch, tone, hand gestures, facial expressions, etc. The use of notes should not be penalized unless it hinders delivery; however, speakers should not read their speeches. Notes are to be used only for reference.

Content is 40% of the total score. This portion of the score should focus on the argumentation used by the speaker, divorced from the style. Weak arguments should be marked accordingly, even if the other team does not expose a weak argument. Judges should not be influenced by their own personal beliefs or specialized knowledge when making this decision.

Strategy is 20% of the total score. Strategy consists of whether or not the speaker understands the importance of the issues in the debate and the structure/timing of the speech. Debaters should identify the most substantive issues and allocate their time to covering issues based on the relative importance. Strategy may also consider answers to points of information and choosing when/how to address them. Strategy is not content: a speaker who answers the critical issues with weak responses should get poor marks for content but good marks for strategy.
